

Call for nominations for the editorship of the Journal of Applied Sport and Exercise Psychology

Call for nominations

At the end of 2024, three editors of the bilingual Journal of Applied Sport and Exercise Psychology will end their term. With this call, we advertise their co-editorships for the years 2025 - 2028. Candidates should have a proven track record in the field of sport psychology and related areas, preferably with a focus on applied sport psychology. Commitment to open research practices and transparency in research in the sense of the Open Science partnership between DGPs, Hogrefe Verlag, and ZPID is strongly desired.

Self-nominations are welcome. In the case of a self-nomination, please describe what impulses you can and want to give to the development of the Journal of Applied Sport and Exercise Psychology. Please enclose a curriculum vitae.

The members of asp and the German Society for Psychology are hereby invited to make suggestions for nominations or self-nominations and to send them to the asp office (Anja Kröger, office@asp-sportpsychologie.org) by April 30, 2024 (cut-off deadline).

The new editors will be chosen by a selection committee made up of a member of the asp presidium (chair), a member of the DGPs board, and the journal editors, in agreement with the publisher.