Open Access Release

Transitional Agreement with Institutions in the UK

We are pleased to inform you about the transitional open access agreement between Hogrefe and academic and research institutions in the UK participating in APA's Jisc agreement ("Read and Publish"). More information is available here.
For you as corresponding author of the paper, this means that you have the option to publish your paper as an open access article without having to pay an APC (Article Publication Charge).
Please complete this form and return it to us as soon as possible. We will then ask your institution to confirm your affiliation (please complete this form on your computer and then print it out to sign it).

☐ I hereby confirm, also on behalf of all co-authors, that the article is permitted to be published as an open access article within the terms of the above-mentioned agreement. I have taken note that my institute confirms this approval. I also agree on behalf of all co-authors to the use of the following license:

☐ CC BY 4.0 * ☐ CC BY-NC 4.0 ☐ CC BY-ND 4.0 ☐ CC BY-NC-ND 4.0

 Please note that certain research funders (e.g. cOAlition S, Wellcome Trust, UKRI, NIHR) require articles acknowledging their funding to be published under the CC BY 4.0 licence. If unsure, you can check funder requirements in Sherpa.*
Most institutions also prefer the use of the CC BY licence; please check with your librarian if unsure.
