

---

Contents

---

Editorial	Economic and Psychological Determinants of Consumer Behavior Erich Kirchler and Erik Hoelzl	195
Review Article	The Division of Household Tasks and Household Financial Management Gerrit Antonides	198
Original Articles	The Accuracy of Consumers' Perception of Future Inflationary Price Changes Fabian Christandl and Tommy Gärling	209
	The Impact of Transaction Utility on Consumer Decisions: The Role of Loss Aversion and Acquisition Utility Stephan Muehlbacher, Erich Kirchler, and Angelika Kunz	217
	Mortality Salience and Worldview Affirmation Strengthen Support for Foreign Products Daniel Sullivan, Eva Jonas, and Barbara Jodlbauer	224
	When Imagery Influences Spending Decisions: The Role of Ownership Simulations Bernadette Kamleitner	231
	The Influence of Anticipated Emotions on Consumer Decisions: Examining the Role of Product Type and Belief in Adaptation Maria Pollai, Erik Hoelzl, Luise Hahn, and Alexandra Hahn	238
	Why Do People Save? The Influence of Financial Satisfaction and Income on Saving Eva Traut-Mattausch and Eva Jonas	246
Horizons	Consumer Decisions as a Central Research Topic in Economic Psychology Erik Hoelzl and Erich Kirchler	253
Call for Papers	"Task Switching": A Topical Issue of the Zeitschrift für Psychologie Guest Editors: Iring Koch and Marcel Brass	255
Volume Information	Volume 219, 2011	256